ABOUT ROSS

Ross Gregor Adam is a musician originally from the rolling hills of Scotland, now based in the vibrant community of South Portland, Maine.

With deep roots in traditional Scottish and Irish folk music, Ross blends the timeless tunes of the past with contemporary favorites that get crowds singing, clapping, and dancing.

“I’ll bring the party!”

Typical Show Setup:

- Ross brings everything needed for a great sounding show, including lights, mics, speakers, and a wide range of instruments including the guitar, mandolin, banjo, fiddle, harmonica, bodhran drum...and yes, bagpipes!
- Ross layers these sounds live using looping technology, creating a rich and dynamic musical experience that brings the energy of a full band to any venue. Whether it’s a cozy pub session or a lively festival, his goal is to connect with people through the power of music.

Frequent Maine venues include RiRa in Portland, Ryan’s Corner House in Kennebunkport, The Dunn Bar in Biddeford, and Feile Irish Pub in Wells.
